Meet Your Speaker

Daniel Romanov was born in the former Soviet Union, where four generations of his family remained faithful to God despite intense religious persecution. His grandfather was arrested and sent to labor camps for his Christian faith, yet he never abandoned his convictions and later translated the Bible into modern Russian. That remarkable heritage shaped Daniel's deep appreciation for faith, religious freedom, and the importance of understanding the Bible for yourself—especially in light of Bible prophecy.

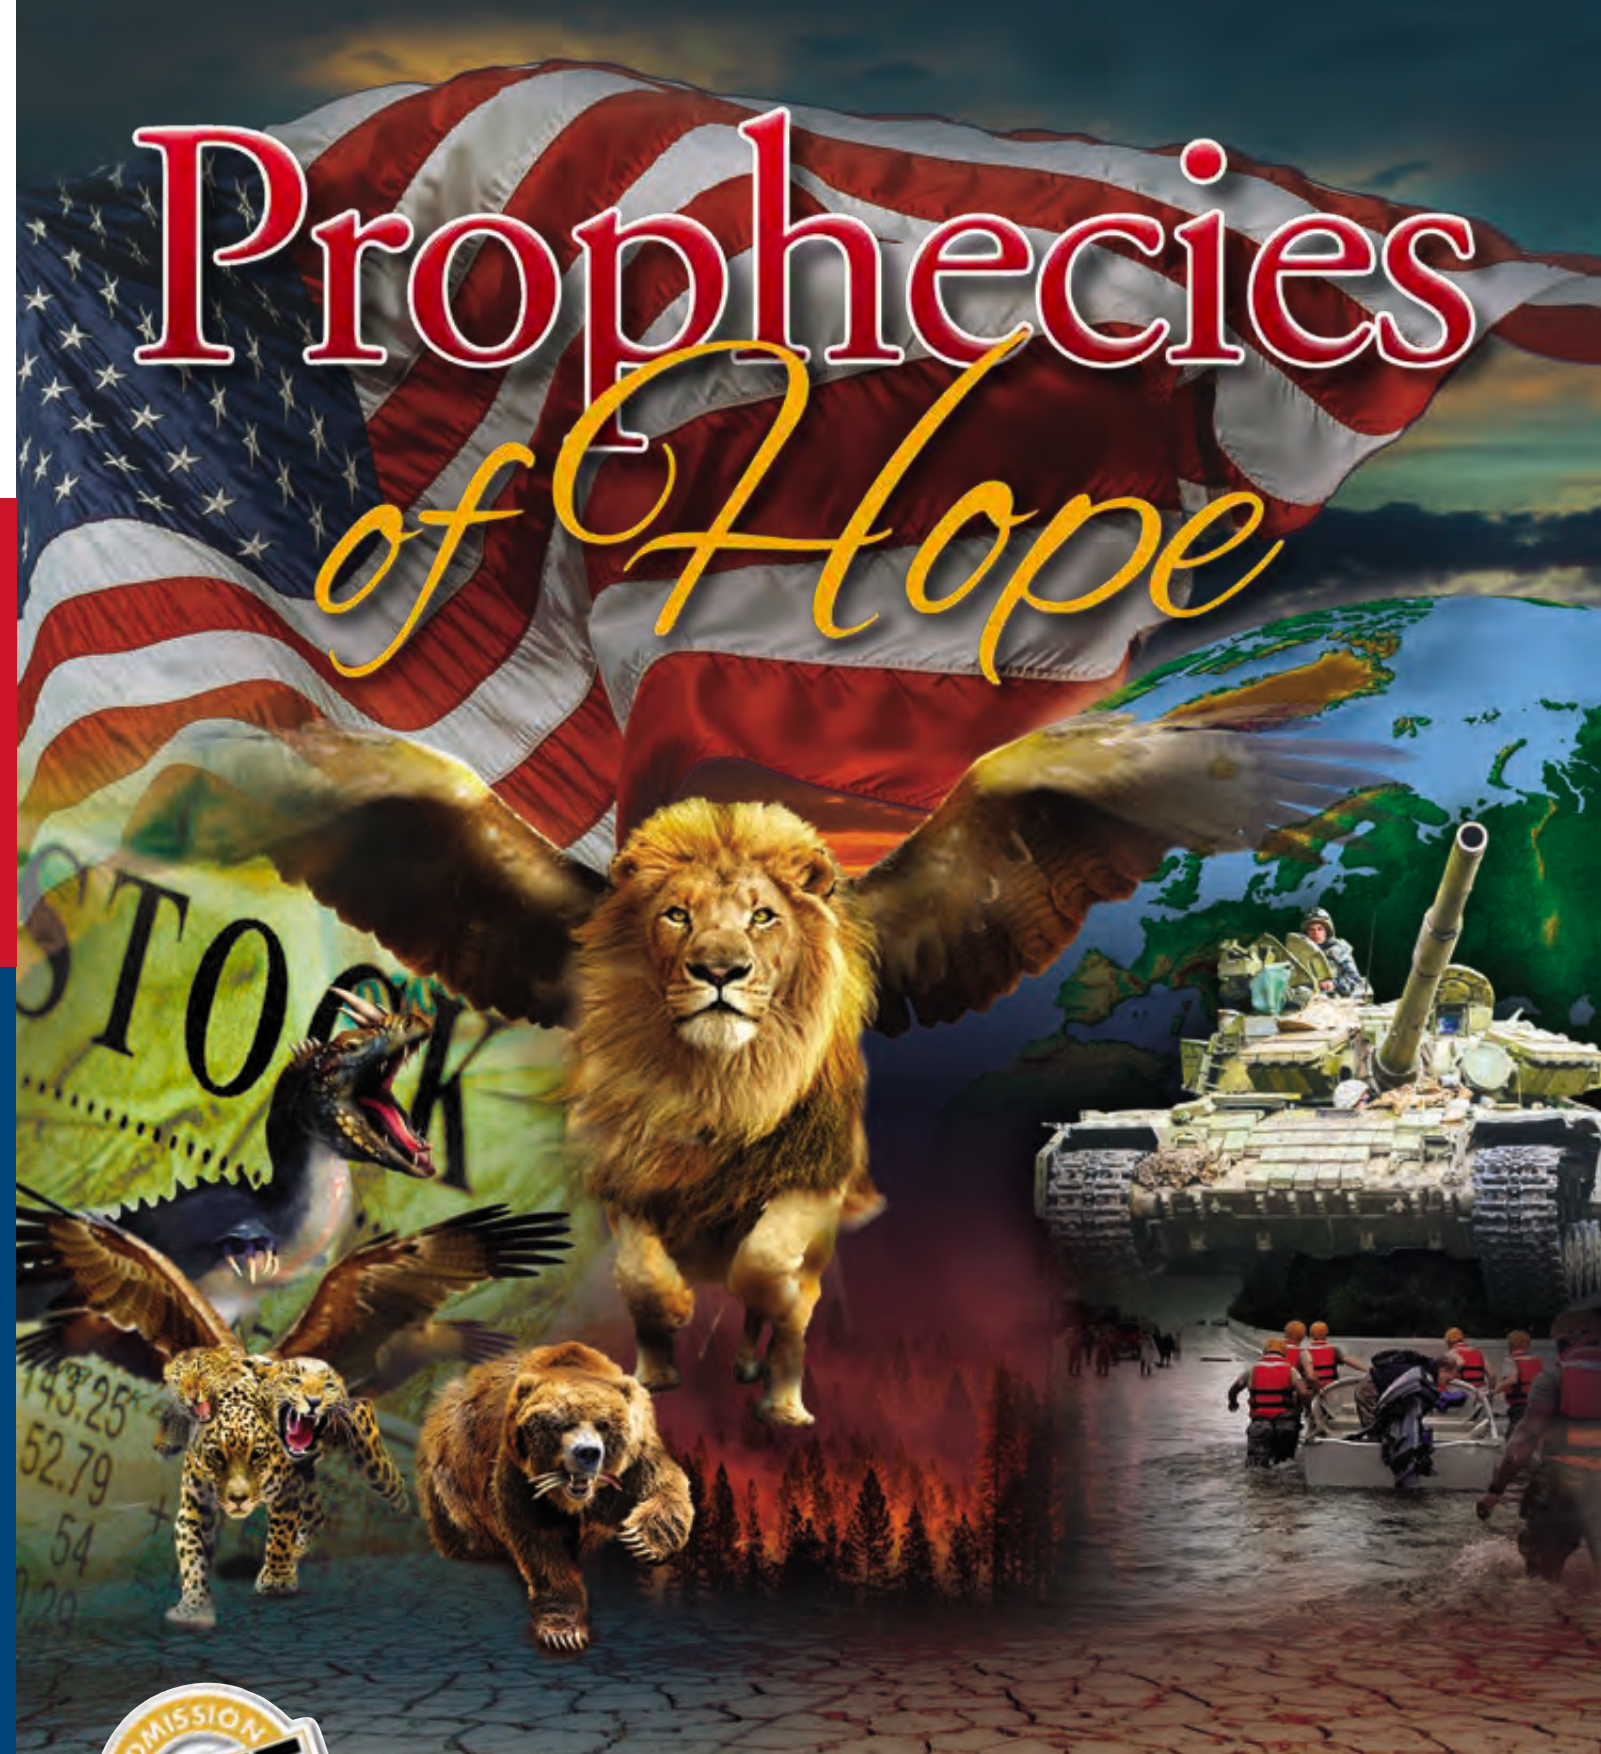

An award-winning public speaker, Daniel is passionate about sharing the love of Jesus and making the Bible clear, practical, and relevant to everyday life. He holds a Master of Divinity and is currently pursuing a doctoral degree. He presents the fascinating prophecies of Daniel and Revelation in an engaging way while addressing questions many people are asking: Where is our world headed? Does Bible prophecy speak about the United States? What is the Mark of the Beast? Can we really know what happens after death? And how can we face the future with hope rather than fear? In just a few evenings, you will learn more about Bible prophecy than many do in a lifetime.
